29 The purposes of this Article are as follows:

- 30 (1) To restore the compelling interest test set forth in Wisconsin v. Yoder, 406
31 U.S. 205 (1972), and Sherbert v. Verner, 374 U.S. 398 (1963), and to 32 guarantee that a test of compelling state interest will be imposed on all State
33 and local laws and ordinances in all cases in which the free exercise of 34 religion is substantially burdened.
- 35 (2) To provide a claim or defense to persons whose exercise of religion is 36 substantially burdened by the State.

1 "§ 147-102. Restriction on State's ability to burden exercise of religion.

2 (a) The State shall not substantially burden a person's free exercise of religion, even if
3 the burden results from a rule of general applicability, unless the State demonstrates that
4 application of the burden to the person is in furtherance of a compelling State interest and that
5 the State used the least restrictive means of furthering that compelling State interest.

6 (b) Nothing in this section shall be construed to do any of the following:

7 (1) Authorize the State to burden any religious belief.

8 (2) Affect, interpret, or in any way address those portions of the First
9 Amendment to the United States Constitution or Sec. 13 of Article I of the 10 North Carolina Constitution that prohibit laws respecting the establishment
11 of religion.

12 (c) Granting State funds, benefits, or exemptions, to the extent permissible under 13 subdivision (b)(2) of this section, shall not constitute a violation of this section. As used in this
14 subsection, "granting" with respect to State funding, benefits, or exemptions shall not include
15 the denial of State funding, benefits, or exemptions.

16 "§ 147-103. Burden of exercise of religion a claim or defense; attorney's fees.

17 If a person's exercise of religion has been burdened in violation of this Article, the person
18 may assert the violation as a claim or defense in a judicial proceeding. If the person prevails in 19 such a proceeding, the court shall award attorney's fees and costs."

20 SECTION 2. This act is effective when it becomes law.
